WILCOX RECEIVES OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT AWARD FOR RESEARCH/ACADEMIA FROM SOCIETY FOR RANGE MANAGEMENT (SRM)

Dr. Bradford P. Wilcox of Bryan, Texas, received an Outstanding Achievement Award for Research/Academia at the Society for Range Management's (SRM) 71st Annual Meeting, Technical Training, and Trade Show in Sparks, Nevada, which concluded earlier this month. The Outstanding Achievement Award is presented by the Society for Range Management for outstanding achievement to members and other qualified individuals and groups working with rangelands.

Dr. Bradford Wilcox's research career spans more than 30 years, during which he has made groundbreaking contributions to understanding how humans altering the water cycle—particularly on rangelands. He is a leading scholar in the exciting new discipline of ecohydrology, which spans the disciplines of ecology and hydrology; and recently his work has become even more interdisciplinary, including the social sciences.

Dr. Wilcox has conducted research projects on rangelands across the globe, including much of the western United States and throughout South America. To date he has produced over 100 peer-reviewed publications, book chapters, and scientific proceedings, and his work has received thousands of citations. He has demonstrated outstanding leadership throughout his career and he possesses the unique ability to bring diverse stakeholders together to form a common vision.

For his accomplishments and dedication to range, the Society for Range Management is proud to recognize Dr. Bradford P. Wilcox with a 2018 Outstanding Achievement for Research/Academia Award.
